Each year in January, Detroit's attention turns to design with the North American International Auto Show. In 2009, the Detroit Artists Market will take its own look at design with the DAM Design Show. This show will look at the entire creative process from concept to design to creation of an artistic and functional piece. Ten designers will take on this process in creating "Chair." Each of the designers or design teams have been invited from various disciplines - artists, designers, architects, engineers, carpenters, and others - and bring their special eye and talent to the process.

Five jewelry designers will also be exhibiting their work at a special Jewelry Concepts fashion show taking place during the opening night's ticketed event reception.

The 2009 Design Show will run for two weeks at DAM. Following, the work will be featured at the furniture and design showroom MEZZANINE, February 4 - 15th.
